Taking part in the AI and Digital Leadership in Education course in Ghent was a fantastic experience. Over three days, we explored different AI tools that can support educators, learnt how to write effective prompts, and even discussed how to create an AI policy for our schools. As a deputy head in a primary school, this course gave me the confidence to start using AI in a smart and purposeful way.

Our trainer was very knowledgeable and supportive. She explained everything clearly and gave us plenty of time to try out the tools ourselves. I discovered so many useful AI applications that I had never heard of before. One key lesson was that using AI is not about going from “no AI” to “Full AI” — it is about finding a balanced approach and working with others to use it wisely.

We were a group of 10 school leaders, and we connected instantly. We shared ideas, supported one another, and built friendships. Ghent itself was beautiful and peaceful — the perfect setting to recharge before the new school year. I came back feeling confident, inspired, and eager to share what I have learned. I would definitely recommend this experience to others!
